Rebels Find Life At South Rewarding

Life at South means a wide variety of things to different people. To some people, their whole life is sports, and to others, it's their studies. That's because our school is made up of different personalities, each with their own ideas and viewpoints. In this yearbook we have tried to show this.

The Journalism Staff of this 1973 SIS Boom would like to express our thanks to everyone who gave their time and effort to help us put together this yearbook. Our thanks to Mr. Ekelof and the faculty for the help and co-operation we have received from them during this year; to Mr. Gary Benson, our American Yearbook representative; to Mr. Fred Briegel of Werkema Studio; to Miss Brown and her art classes for the posters and banners used to publicize yearbook sales; and last, but definitely not least, our special thanks to Mrs. Helen Sparks, our advisor, without whom we would never have been able to create this yearbook.

Now, as you browse through the pages of this book, we hope you have enjoyed the past year of your "Life at South School."

Ann Parrent

Teen World Of Staffs Serve South

Part of our teen world includes working on staffs. South's staffs have been working hard to help keep South in top shape. The students volunteer their time to assist the teachers and to accomplish the many necessary jobs. But working on the staffs isn't all work, the students are helping and at the same time having fun. We all appreciate their efforts.

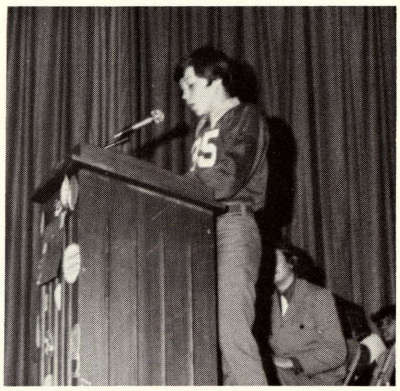
Council Governs Over South

This year's President's Council has adopted a new sponsor child. Her name is Eunice Sathiabalan. Eunice, born in India, is now attending first grade. Eunice was eight in January.

Eunice's parents wanted to keep her in school, but could not afford it with their meager earnings. She has now been accepted as our new sponsor child, and has expressed her thanks toward us by writing a letter to our school.



Our President's Council couldn't do its job without the full cooperation of everyone who represented a homeroom. This year's presiding presidents were, (FIRST ROW, L. TO R.) Vocal Department Provides Enjoyment

The musical ensembles at South, the Mixed Choir, Girl's Choir, Madrigals, Folk Singers and Seventh Grade Glee Club, helped add a touch of variety to the musical programs they presented for us this year. Under the direction of Miss Mary Ellen Gase, the choirs have learned a wide selection of songs that helped create a mood of happiness, serenity, and all around satisfaction for their audiences. Once again we salute Miss Gase and her fine groups for the great pleasure which they have brought us.

(RIGHT) To also help the students get into the right spirit, choir classes caroled in the halls and added enjoyment to everyone's day.

This year's Madrigals have made many people happy this year all over the city in the way they know best. . . singing! The girls chosen this year are (L to R) Linda MacRae, Joan Anderson, Julie Wilson, Cindy Cawkins, Anne Bocade, Mary Burditt, Jan Thery, Cheryl Savage, Sally Laubhan, JoDee Schmidt, Kris Kelley, Judy Sieggreen, Mary Rohde, Kim Trask, Sue Fowler, Nancy Naples, and Cindy Kipp.

Variety Is The Key

Music Enriches Lives of South Students

Our junior high instrumental music program is one of the best in the city, and they have proved this to us again this year. The great variety of music they play has something for almost everyone, including rock, classical, and even foreign music. Although we hear certain groups more often than others, they all work hard to produce the best music they can. (RIGHT) Dean Zimmerman, Rod Horvat, and Peter Hayes learn a new technique. (BELOW) The South Orchestra is made up of seventh, eighth, and ninth graders who work hard to produce a good orchestra.

This year's Concert Band is composed of both eighth and ninth graders who will make up next year's Senior Band.

The Junior Band is made up of eighth graders who were in the Begining Band last year.

The Cadet Band is composed of seventh graders with previous experience on their instruments.

Journalism Staff Writes on Life at South

This year's staff of 10 ninth graders worked on the "Rebel Review", our school newspaper and on the "Sis Boom", our school yearbook. Our task consisted of meeting deadlines, taking photographs at games and activities, creating layouts, cropping photos and reporting on all the features of life at South. Our task is that much harder this year because last year's "Sis Boom" won first place in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's national yearbook contest.

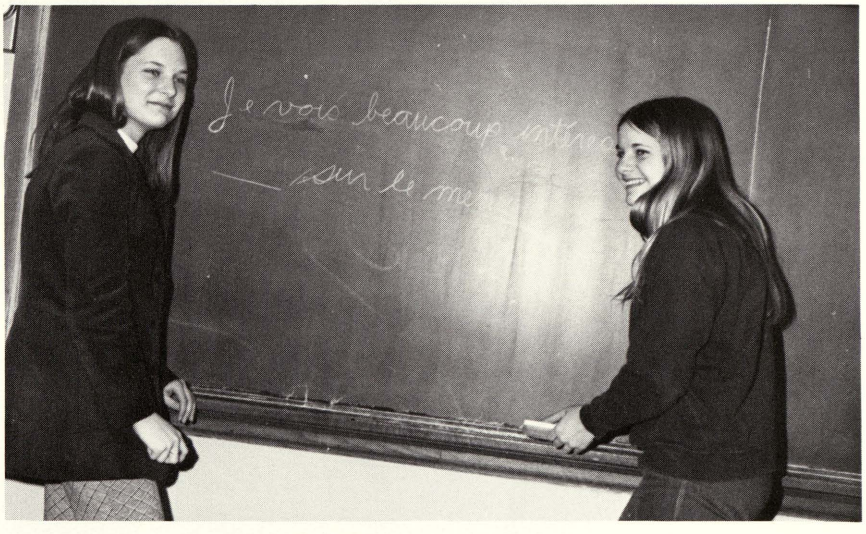
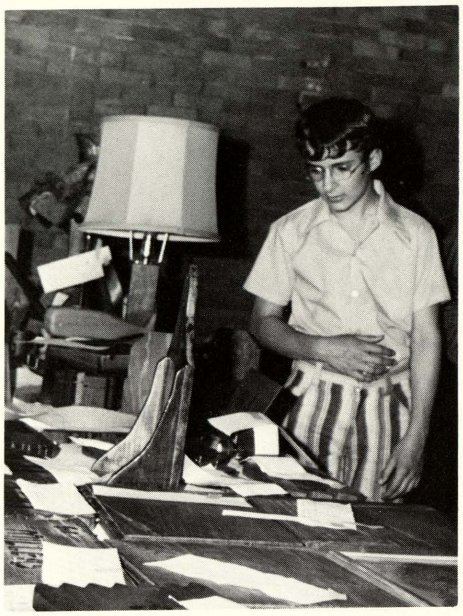
Jeannine Alcock explains how to do a formula in math class. Seventh and eighth graders are required to have a full year of math. Ninth graders have a choice of general math, introductory algebra, or algebra.

South Provides Many Curricular Activities

Pictured above is Bonnie Lauman in Mrs. Sparks' news media class. This class is a part of the rounds program. Also included are music, art, science, public speaking, and language arts.



Giggling over a joke, Sharon O'Dell and Peggy Farthing hurry to finish writing a French sentence on the board in Mr. Jacobson's class. At South we have four foreign languages offered as electives. They are French, German, Latin, and Spanish.



Bruce Neveau looks at the shop works shown in last year's graphic arts show. At South we have wood, metal, and print shops along with drafting.

Helping Sharon Sageman with her needlepoint project is Miss Karam. Girls are required to have one year of homemaking. It is then offered as an elective.

Judy Gronski and Diane Kundinger put up a few posters on peace in Viet Nam. Ninth grade students have contemporary problems class for one semester and science for another. They also have civics which alternates with gym. Seventh and eighth grade students have a full year of social studies.

Play Cast Rehearsals Pay Off

Rehearsal, make-up, and hard work went into making this year's play, PARENTS ARE LIKE THAT, a great success. The play, viewed on February 7 to an audience of elementary students and on February 8 to an audience of students and adults, went over well with both groups. The plot revolves around the nomination of Mr. Burton to the school-board with many other things entwining with the main plot. In the end all turn out well with Mr. Burton getting the nomination and Barby and Ross getting married.

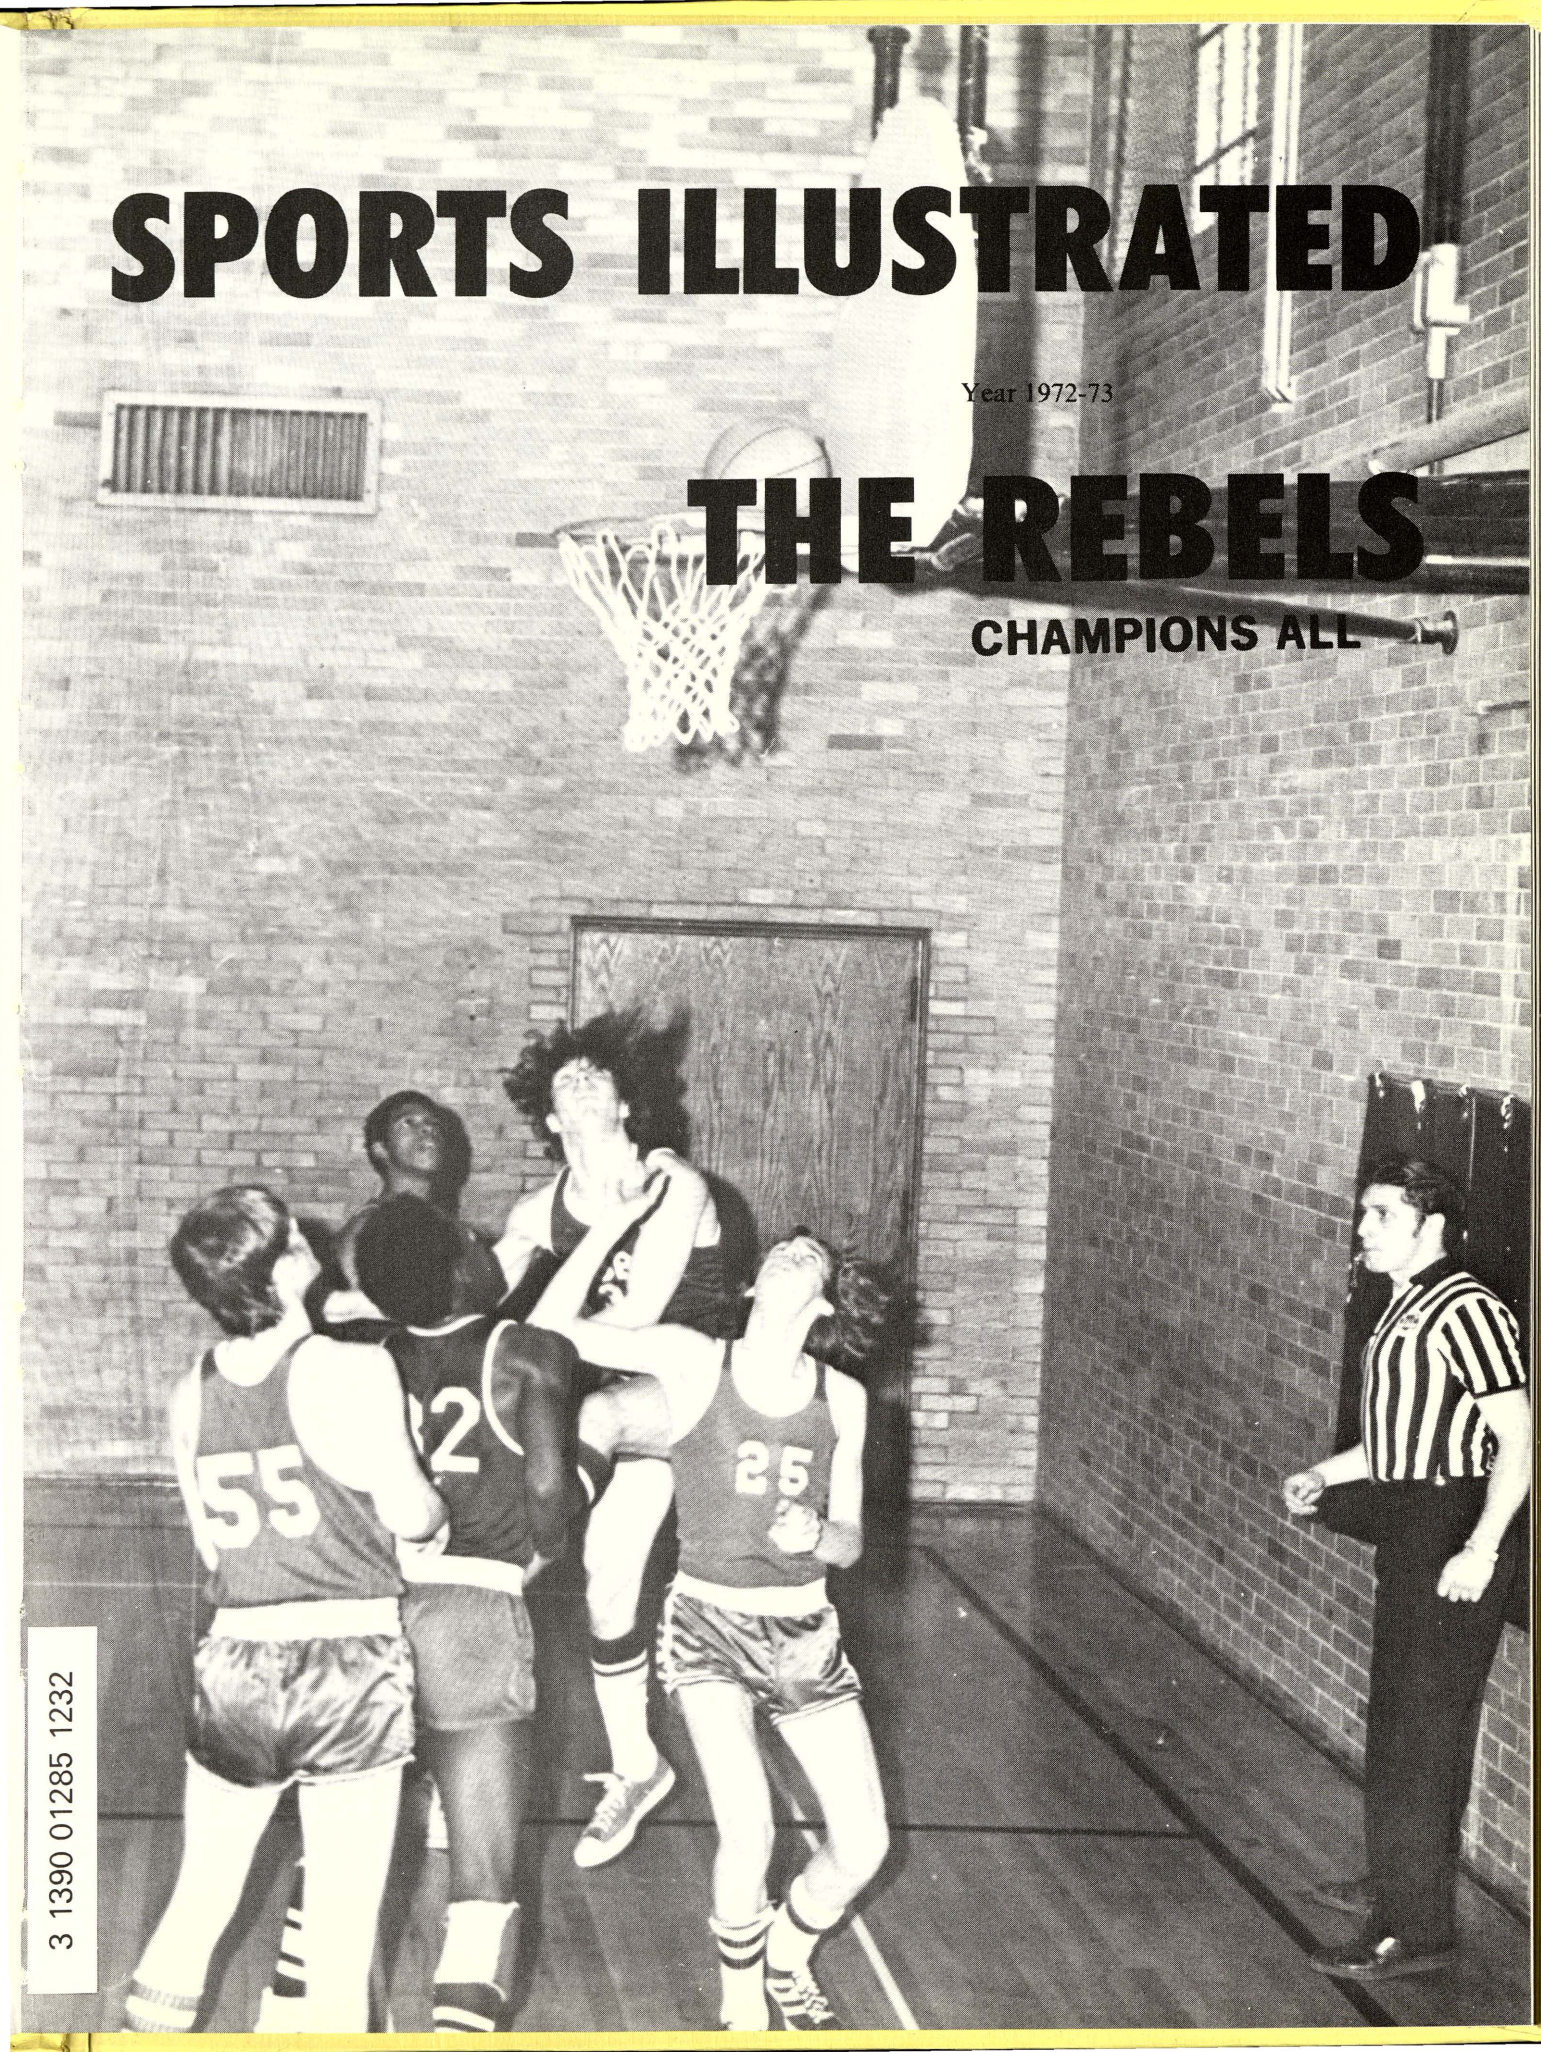
CHAMPIONS ALL



3 1390 01285 1232

This year's ninth grade Rebels finished their second season undefeated with a 8-0 record.

The defense held their opponents to 34 points, while their offense scored 251 points.

Top scorer this year was Tom Kolesar scoring close to 100 points.

The traveling Grube Trophy was awarded to South for the fifth time in six years as well as the City Championship Trophy.

This year's eight grade football team produced a three win, three loss season. They ended the year on a high note, defeating Zilwaukee by a score of 50 to 8. In their three victories they scored over 40 points in each game, while holding their opponents to a three game total of 16 points. Their total point tally for the year was 164 while keeping their opponents to only 78 points. The team's leading scorer was Jerry LaLonde with 64 points. With this year's experience, next year's ninth grade team may have a chance for the championship.

Senior Rebels Snatch Co-Championship

This year's Senior Rebels rolled on to a 9 win 3 loss record and the City Co-Championship for the first time in eight years. In overall team statistics for the season the Rebels led their opponents combined statistics in all categories. Besides scoring more points and having a higher percentage of shots made from the floor, the seniors committed less fouls and violations. The team's leading scorer with 240 points was Ken Johnson. He was also the leading rebounder. Tom Murphy led the Rebels with the best percentage from the floor. Tom Kolesar scored the most points in a single game.

Throughout the year the Rebels played well, winning seven games in a row, and represented South excellently.

Junior Rebels Finish Season

This year's eighth grade Rebels got off to a slow start, but finished the season strong, and won two of their last three games. Steve Feldt led the team in scoring with 14.6 points per game. Kip Kipke led in percentage from the floor, with a 41% average, and also led from the free throw line with a 70% average. Coach Slaggert was quoted as saying "Despite having a slow start, the team proved it could play with anyone in the league as nine of the ten games were decided in the last two minutes. Next year I feel we will be a real contender for the championship".

Rebel Girls Take Third

This year the volleyball team won ten games, taking third place in the city. The girls started the season against Eddy and lost both games, but came back to win two against Zilwaukee. Then came a series of ups and downs with South winning six and losing eight. The season ended with a double victory over North.

High scorers this season were Anne Pacanovsky with 46 points and Marsha Baumgarten with 34.

This year's swim teams have done an outstanding job by pulling out their eighth straight championships. We have seen fine individual performances by both our simmers and divers. Our relay teams have also done a good job by putting out another winning effort for the team.

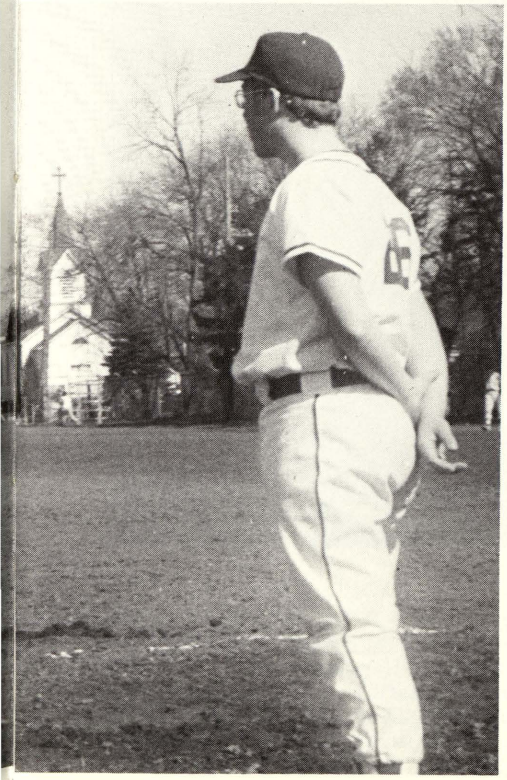
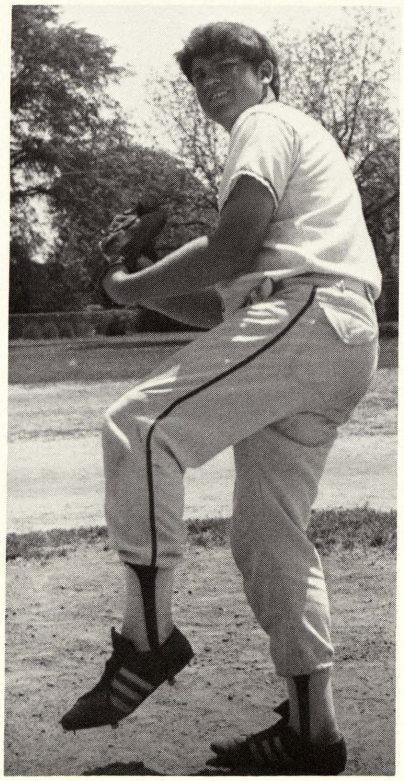
South's Baseball Team Undefeated in '72





South's baseball team went undefeated again last year and won their sixth straight championship. Good pitching, solid hitting, and steady defensive play combined to push the other teams off the field.

Tom Thompson led the team in hitting with a .545 average, establishing a new individual batting mark. Greg Beeg was the leading pitcher with six wins and no losses, and 62 strike outs.

The seventh and eighth graders played very well and we should have a good team this year also.

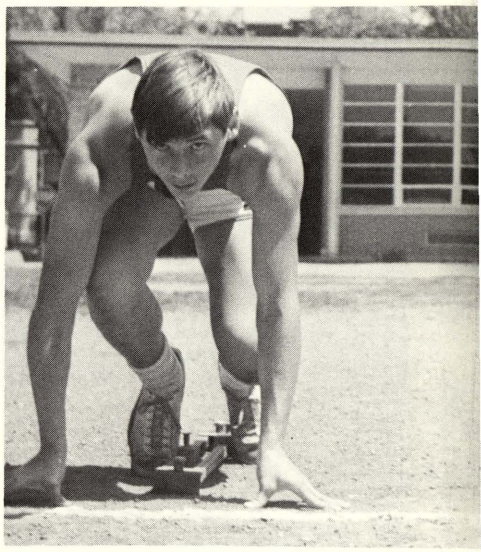
Rebels Break



Last year's track team showed a lot of spirit in their league. They met stiff competition from a few of the other schools, but still broke some old existing school records. The mile, a new event, was dominated by South most of the year. The Rebels showed up well in the 440 yd. relay and the shot putt with the record broken twice. All in all, last year's seventh and eighth graders showed great promise for this year's track season.

The games will be continued in the future and the teams hope for a more extended schedule. The games were held during classes. Spectators were not allowed. Although the ninth grade team won only one game they both showed great enthusiasm and spirit.

Administrators Help Us Reach Our Goals

Principal John Ekelof and assistant principals Mr. Duane Maas and Mr. Glen Leeson have guided us through another year here at South. They have kept the school running smoothly during the day and have still had time to supervise our dances, concerts, and play. We should be proud to call them OUR principals.

MR. JOHN D. EKELOF, Principal

One of Mrs. Wendt's seventh grade classes read articles from their Jr. Scholastics.

(AT RIGHT) These ninth grade students compete in an intramural game. The games are played during most of the school year, in such sports as football, basketball, dodgeball, volleyball and baseball.

Two score and eleven years ago, our fathers brought forth into this city a new school, conceived with much time and effort so that all students may receive the best education.

Now as we enter the second half of the first century, we are faced with problems unlike those of our parents and grandparents. We are here to dedicate our lives to making this generation more outstanding in the years to come.

But in a larger sense, this year has had a special meaning for everyone. The Viet Nam War has ended and the POW's have finally returned home. The world will always remember the great sacrifice these men have made for the cause of freedom. Now it is for us, the new generation, to continue the peace that now exists.

As this school year draws to a close, we have hopes that South will keep its high standards and will continue to be the best in service, industry and sportsmanship.

To a English Teacher that taught me
English and I learn it. Ain't that nice
